Job Corps Policy and Requirements Handbook (PRH)
Modernization Initiative Listening Forum

Register Now Using the Links Below

The Office of Job Corps is holding a series of Listening Forums to solicit feedback from the Job Corps community regarding the recently implemented initiative to streamline and modernize the Policy Requirements Handbook (PRH). In March 2014, the National Office of Job Corps held a series of webinars to introduce the modernization effort. In support of and related to the webinars and listening forums will be a dedicated discussion page through which participants and the at-large Job Corps community may comment on, respond to, and make suggestions regarding the modernization effort and offer policy revisions suggestions.

This is one of four listening forums, three of which will be exclusively conducted for two Job Corps regions (including staff at the region, center, and operator level); and one forum dedicated to administrative matters related to the initiative.

A series of four Listening Forums is planned, with intended audiences organized by Job Corps region, as shown below. Three bi-Regional forums will be held, hosted by the Regional Directors for the assigned Regional Offices. Participants are asked to join the forum scheduled for their respective region. The fourth forum will be hosted by the National Office of Job Corps and is intended for center operator representatives. The content of that forum will focus more on management and oversight responsibilities than the first three forums.
